Earlier today, we sent a notification that the e-OSCAR 4.0 Sandbox Environment was experiencing an unplanned outage. The environment was down for about four hours.

Chances are, you've already realized that the environment is back up and running. In fact, the environment came back up around 2:30pm ET.

We told you that we'd let you know when the Sandbox was available....and well, I guess we got carried away in the excitement of it all, and forgot to send that message out.

So...bottom line - the e-OSCAR 4.0 Sandbox environment is back up and running. If you run into any issues, please let us know.

We apologize for any inconvenience the outage (and our not sending a follow up mail) caused today.

Hope you have a great evening.

If you have any questions or comments, please let us know.
